HORSE SHOW WILL START OFF TONIGHT

Rain Threatened the Opening, But Program Will be Carried Out in Full Tonight.

Rain is what the weather clerk gave the horse show this morning, but the clouds broke this afternoon and the big event will take place to night according to program. There are many visitors in the city, but the downpour this morning has kept many away. With clearing weather there should be an immense crowd here tomorrow from surrounding towns.

Many entries have already been made for each event and Secretary D. W. Coons, of the Commercial and Manufacturers' club, has been busy all afternoon taking entries and requests persons who desire to go into the contests tonight, tomorrow and Friday nights to enter as soon as they can.

The rain, stated Mr. R. B. Phillips this afternoon, has been a blessing as it has settled the dust, and consequently there will be no dust to annoy the spectators tonight. The grounds were a little muddy but this afternoon 25 wagon loads of sawdust were put on them, which left them in ideal condition.

Quite a number of blooded horses are here and most of them are at the fair grounds, the others being kept in local livery stables. Dr. J. B. Garber has his fine German coach horses at the Palmer transfer stables on Jefferson street and tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock they will be paraded, headed by a brass band, through the principal business thoroughfares.

This afternoon the sponsors will be entertained in the parlors of the Palmer house. It is to be a dress affair and a large number of ladies will attend. The reception commenced at 3 o'clock and is in charge of the reception committee, of which Miss Elizabeth Sinnott is chairman. Everybody who desired to attend was invited. Punch is being served.

The sponsors who accepted are: Misses Annie Ellison, Hickman, Ky.; Lucile Rogers, Waverly, Tenn.; Carolyn Price, Dawson Springs, Ky.; Bernice Frost, Wingo, Ky.; Mignonette Murphy, Fulton, Ky.; Mary Carr, Fulton, Ky.; Grace Smith, Mayfield, Ky.; Hallie Moorman, Mayfield, Ky.; Jessie Northington, Wickliffe, Ky.; Emma Woodward, Cairo, Ill.; Meme Smith, Owensboro, Ky.; Hattie Davis, Birdsville, Ky.; Patty Crook, Jackson, Tenn.; Jennie Wire, Mayfield, Ky.; Jessie Wilson, Nashville, Tenn.; Anna Parks, Nashville, Tenn.; and Mesdames Samuel McCall, Fulton, Ky.; Harry G. Tandy, Frankfort, Ky.; Annie Berryman, Clarksville, Tenn.; C. C. Terrell, Cairo, Ill.; Jake Corbett, Wickliffe, Ky.; J. H. Black, Terre Haute, Ind.; W. O. Bailey, Louisville, Ky.; Urey Woodson, Owensboro, Ky.; Gus Thomas, Mayfield, Ky.; Houston Fall, Nashville, Tenn.

The boxes have all been sold. The four remaining ones were sold to: Mr. William Hughes, Mr. Virgil Sherrill, Mr. James C. Utterback and Mr. William F. Bradshaw, Jr.

The boxes have all been lined with white, and the reserved seats covered with white, and every precaution has been taken to prevent the faintest of gowns from being soiled.

Dr. Olivia Nelson has a handsome bridle and saddle which she will use in her riding at the horse show. Dr. Nelson had the bridle and saddle made to order by the Uelman-Stark Co., and is one of the finest ever seen in the city.

Prof. Dean's band and Prof. Deal's band have been furnishing music this afternoon at Fourth and Broadway and Second and Broadway, respectively, attracting large crowds.

The defendants are the International Harvester company of America and the International Harvester company. From the former the state asks for the recovery of $850,000 and from the latter $800,000. The state also asks that both companies be denied the right to further do business in Arkansas. ## GEN. GAINES LOST IN FIRST ROUND

Judge Reed Thinks Civilians Had a Right at Encampment.

Demurrer to Elmer Townsend's $10,000 Damage Suit Overruled in Circuit Court Today.

TRIAL OF CASES ON THE 21ST.

The suit of Elmer Townsend against Col. Noel C. Gaines, of Frankfort, for $10,000 damages came up in the circuit court this morning and the general demurrer of the defendant to the petition was argued by Judge Guy Briggs, of Bowling Green, advocate general of the state guards, and the plaintiff was represented by Judge R. T. Lightfoot and Attorney L. K. Taylor.

The demurrer was overruled. Judge Briggs held that Col. Gaines, as inspector general, had jurisdiction over the encampment grounds for a certain radius and could arrest or cause the arrest of any civilian therein. Judge Reed decided that a civilian had as much right within the encampment grounds as any soldier so long as he did not interfere with an officer, and this the plaintiff's attorneys allege Townsend did not do.

During the encampment here in August Townsend was at the encampment at Wallace park one morning when Col. Gaines ordered a proprietor of a stand to clean up around it or suffer arrest. He alleges that Townsend laughed at him and when asked why he acted so, that Townsend threatened and dared him to arrest him. His arrest followed and Townsend was placed in the guard house. The plaintiff claims he was laughing at the stand proprietor and denies that he threatened Col. Gaines.

After the suit was threatened Col. Gaines found that Townsend was a member of company K, of Paducah, which had never been mustered out, and has instituted charges against him at Frankfort, and says Townsend will be court-martialed and tried after the damage suit is disposed of.

The decision of Judge Reed this morning will probably throw the suit to trial on its merits, and the case was today set for the 21st day of the term.

The overruling of the demurrer does not affect the case, however, as the defense expects to show that Townsend was legally a member of the state guards, and subject to such discipline as his superiors saw fit to enforce.

JOLT FOR DUNNE.

Chicago Council Rejects Municipal Ownership By Vote of 37 to 27.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Mayor Dunne succeeded in putting the city council on record on the question of municipal ownership. The aldermen voted 37 to 27 against it.

The mayor sent to the council an order directing the local transportation committee to negotiate with the street car companies for a franchise, and the vote was taken to indicate that a majority of the council favor the passage of a franchise ordinance.

The vote showed only one over a majority of the council however and not enough to pass the ordinance over a veto of the mayor.

Theatrical Notes

THE KENTUCKY.
Wednesday Night, "The Girl and the Bandit."
Thursday Night, "Louis James in 'Virgilius'."
Friday Night, "Charles R. Taggart, 'The Man From Vermont'."
Saturday Matinee and Night, "Parsifal."

A member of "The Girl and the Bandit" chorus is Miss Bassett of Central City, Ky., who promises in time to become a prima donna.

Owensboro was pleased with The Girl and the Bandit. The Messenger of yesterday said:

"Owensboro has at last seen and heard 'The Girl and the Bandit,' Frank L. Perley's comedy opera. The theatergoers of this city are not at all sorry from 'seeing' pretty Viola Gillette and hearing the tuneful songs in the performance. The show last evening at the Grand was attended by one of the largest audiences of the season. The performance was thoroughly enjoyed by all those who attended. The saying that 'Hite's a Hit' was true in Owensboro as well as in scores of other cities that this dainty comedienne has appeared. Mabel Hite is a second edition of Eva Tanguay—and some of her lines surpass the nervous little actress who appeared here last season. 'The Girl and the Bandit' has no 'Song of the Violets' or 'Heidelberg,' but there are about a score of songs, all of which are quite pretty and catchy."

The famous Wagnerian Festival play, which will be seen at The Kentucky on Saturday, matinee and night, is a mystic drama based upon one of the popular legends of the Middle Ages, and wrought into most attractive literary form by such mediaeval writers as Chretien de Troyes and Wolfram von Eisenbach.

This production of "Parsifal" is marked by the employment of many of the Balreuth customs. The commencing time, however, has been modified. It has formerly been the rule to begin the evening performance at 5:30, given an intermission of two hours for dinner. This intermission is now eliminated, and the performance will begin at 7:45 sharp, at night and 1:45 at matinee. There will be but a five to eight minute wait between each act, which is required to set the stupendous scenic display. The performance ends at 11 p. m.

At a time when everything in the drama is held in such small concern, it is refreshing to welcome the revival of "Virgilius," by that actor of infinite variety and worth—Louis James, who will be seen at The Kentucky tomorrow night. Mr. James' "Virgilius," is said to be his most successful characterization, a statement that is most pertinent when remembrance drifts back to his great performance of "Pepo," in "Francisco De Remini with Lawrence Barrett, or his Othello to Edwin Booth's Iago. The supporting company headed by Norman Hackett, is said to be especially competent.

Buys Valuable Tract.

County Jailer David Reeder has just purchased the Robert Thompson tract of land, 230 acres, lying near the McCracken county line at old Lewisburg, this county, for which he paid $6,000. This is said to be the best improved tract of land in Graves county.—Mayfield Messenger.

A CONFERENCE

TO DECIDE ABOUT CONFEDERATE REUNION DELEGATES.

Paducah Veterans Will Probably Send Representatives to the State Reunion.

Capt. Thomas Herndon and Mr. B. H. Scott will hold a conference today to discuss the matter of sending a local delegation to the State Confederate Reunion at Pewee Valley, on October 26.

The question was to have been settled last night at the regular meeting of Camp James Walbert, but Capt. Herndon and others were unable to attend, hence the conference today.

The Kentucky division is composed of seventy-three camps, organized into four brigades, as follows: First Brigade—Brig. Gen. James P. Rogers, Cane Ridge, Ky.; Second Brigade—Brig. Gen. J. B. Briggs, of Russellville, Ky.; Third Brigade—Brig. Gen. Daxier Thornton, of Louisville; Fourth Brigade—Brig. Gen. Sinclair, of Georgetown.

At the suggestion of Mr. George Young, the brigades will have sponsors as at the national reunion. A large attendance is expected. Important reports will be read, and the business on hand will be transacted.

It is believed that a delegation will go from Paducah.

ANOTHER ORGANIZATION.

Commercial Travelers to Have a Council in Paducah.

A council of the United Commercial Travelers is being organized in Paducah and as soon as enough members are secured there will be a meeting and an election of officers.

Mr. B. C. Loeblein, local agent of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing company, is at the head of the move and all names should be forwarded to him. Several have already been secured.

There are already two drummers' organizations here now, the T. P. A., and the Paducah Traveling Men's club, the latter being purely local.

Money-Makers—"Gracious," exclaimed the kind old lady to the beggar, "are they the best shoes you've got?" "Why, lady," replied the candid beggar, "could you imagine better ones for this business? Every one of 'em holes means nickels and dimes ter me."

MANY "STARS"

Are Now On "Chief" Lloyd's String—Back From Cincinnati.

"Chief" Harry Lloyd, manager of the Paducah league team, returned with his family yesterday from a visit in Cincinnati, his former home. The "chief" says he was treated royally by his friends and when he visited baseball games was given quite an ovation. He met Eddie Kolb, manager of the Vincennes team, there and they talked over the past season. He said there were plenty of fast players in Cincinnati this year and when he gets ready to start practice next season will have some of the stars of the Queen City city league but he did not sign any men on this trip.

Jinks—"No use working myself to death any longer. I'm going to become a Wall street operator." Winks—"Well, I'll sell you my seat in the stock exchange for $60,000." Jinks—"Huh! I can get a seat in congress for one-tenth of that."

STATE BREWERS

Are in Session at Newport—No Delegates From Paducah This Time.

The Kentucky Brewers Association convened at Newport today for a two days' session, but no delegates went from Paducah.

One of the most important subjects to be brought before the meeting is the recommendation of the United States Brewers' Association to prepare a campaign of education to all those who handle beer, to show what is the pure goods.

Court of Appeals Decisions.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 18.—The court of appeals, by Judge Barker, reversed the Barren circuit court in the case of J. T. Doores vs. the commonwealth. Appellant, a resident of Bowling Green, was convicted of selling liquor to Emmet Williams, a blacksmith living in Glasgow, in violation of the local option law, and sentenced to forty days and fined $100. Doores met Williams in his shop and told him if he wanted anything in his line he would like to sell him. Williams called Doores over long distance telephone at Bowling Green, ordered whiskey and paid him by money order on the Bowling Green post office.

This court holds the sale made in Warren county and directs peremptory instruction for appellant.

The court, by Chief Justice Hobson, while circuit sitting, reversed the Kenton circuit court in the case of City of Covington vs. the Pullman Car company. ## ROAD OVERSEERS

IN GRAVES COUNTY HAVE BEEN NEGLECTING THEIR DUTIES.

They Will Be Indicted at the Instance of the County Judge Hereafter.

Mayfield, Ky., Oct. 18.—The failure of road overseers to keep their roads in proper condition will be investigated by the grand jury. In speaking along this line the other day County Judge J. T. Webb said "the law has been changed by the legislature and the grand jury now has jurisdiction to indict all road overseers who fail to keep their roads in first class traveling order, and who neglect to keep ditches on both sides of the roads open and who fail to repair the abutments to their bridges or keep up their culverts or neglect their roads in any other way. The penalty for the violation is not less than $10, or more than $100."

Judge Webb is a great believer in good roads and has exerted his every effort to that end. On the question he further said: "It has been impossible for the county judge and magistrates to get the road overseers to pay any attention at all to the roads. All road overseers, who fail to get their roads in first class condition in every respect between now and the November term of circuit court may depend on being indicted by the next grand jury."

COMPLAINTS CAUSED

BY HABITS OF LIVING—EVERY CITY VISITED BY CHARACTISTIC AFFLICTION, SAYS PAYNE.

Of the thousands of people who have called on Payne and his assistants in this city, it is said that a majority was suffering with stomach troubles in different forms.

Payne explained that in each city visited, some particular ailment is prevalent. In some parts of the country many are afflicted with rheumatism, while in other places, catarrh and liver and kidney disorders cause most of the suffering. But in Paducah it is said that it is stomach trouble that claims many victims. The afflictions that are common to different parts of the country Payne explained, are due to climatic conditions and the people's habits of living.

During Payne's visit in this city there were hundreds of callers who told about what they had suffered because of stomach trouble.

Of the stories told by those who called yesterday the statement made by John Meyer will give an idea of the work that the Payne's remedies are accomplishing:

"I have been suffering for some time with stomach trouble, which gradually grew worse. I felt weak and nervous and I had a coated tongue, and a bad taste in my mouth most of the time. I frequently woke up in the morning after tossing most of the night feeling more tired than when I went to bed. A few days ago I decided to try the Payne remedies and I bought some of the New Discovery. My improvement began almost with the first dose and now I feel better than I have for years."

Another interesting story was told by Henry Korb, who said: "For a number of years I had been troubled with rheumatism and my joints were swollen and painful. I had tried many remedies and received little benefit. Then I bought some of the Payne preparations and almost as soon as I began to use the medicine I was relieved. Within two weeks the swelling was gone and the pain left me and I feel better than I had for a long while."

Payne's Remedies can be obtained at all hours at Smith & Nagel's, 4th and Broadway.

TO ADDRESS PUPILS.

Prof. Randle to Lecture to High School Tomorrow.

Prof. E. H. Randle, of Mississippi, who is visiting relatives in Paducah, will lecture to the High school tomorrow morning.

Prof. Randle was a former resident of Paducah and taught school here thirty years ago. He has become one of the most celebrated educators in the south and writes educational articles for the St. Louis papers and also some of the foremost educational magazines in the country. He was years ago an instructor in the old university building where the High school now stands on West Broadway.

Last Hope Vanished.

When leading physicians said that W. M. Smithart, of Pekin, Ia., had incurable consumption, his last hope vanished; but Dr. King's New Discovery kept him out of his grave. He says: "This great specific completely cured me, and saved my life. Since then, I have used it for over 10 years, and consider it a marvelous throat and lung cure. 'Strictly scientific cure for Coughs, Sore Throats or Colds; sure preventive of Pneumonia. Guaranteed, 50c and $1.00 bottles at W. B. McPherson's drug store."

No Celebration This Year.

The "1840 Fellows" have decided not to give their picnic and celebration this year, on account of deaths in the organization, and the absence of several from the city. Judge D. L. Sanders was authorized to appoint a committee to draft resolutions on the death of Major T. E. Moss, W. R. Peal and L. P. Rasor.

A Daredevil Ride.

$50 or $15

There are sixty-two grades of horse hair (?) used for mattresses. Could you tell them apart? Don't you have to go partly by the reputation of the dealer, but chiefly by the price he asks—$50 for his "best?"

Curled hair—the former style of mattress material—comes to the market in bales of mixed origin; from asses, cows and pigs, mingled with the manes and tails of dead horses. Hair gathers dust, harbours vermin, absorbs moisture, and often contains germs of pestilential diseases (absolute proof of this sent on request); gets lumpy and has to be frequently picked over. Isn't it a satisfaction when buying to know that there is a guarantee behind the bed?

Ostermoor Mattress $15.00

—always good; better than the best hair mattress can be; you don't have to be an expert, for the trade mark is sewn on the end of every genuine Ostermoor. The Ostermoor is pure in its origin, and is further purified in our patented process of manufacture into airy, interlacing, fibrous Ostermoor sheets of great elasticity, moisture proof and vermin proof. These sheets are laid into the tick—the result is a mattress which is built, not stuffed; which will keep its shape and uniform thickness and never needs making over, though the tick can easily be removed for washing.

NOW FOR THE ELECTION.

The registration is now practically over. Later on those who were absent from the city, or too ill to register, may enroll their names at the county clerk's office, but they will doubtless as usual be few.

It now devolves upon the people who have the interests of the city at heart to work for victory in November. The registration is not always a true prophet of the election.
 A great many who have registered as Democrats declare they will vote against the Democratic ticket for good and obvious reasons. Paducah needs to be rescued from ring rule, and it cannot be accomplished by voting the same crowd back in office.
 Governor Folk, of Missouri, in a speech in Philadelphia Monday night, said among other things:

"The most conspicuous fact of municipal government in the United States today is that they are governments by the few, and not by the people. There is more aggressive rottenness and less aggressive patriotism in our large cities than anywhere else. If the patriotism can be made as aggressive as the rottenness
 the problem of good government would be solved by the people taking the government into their own hands. If corruption exists in Philadelphia, the people are to blame; if corruption is to be eradicated, the people alone can do it.

"A political party has no right to ask for support because it is that party, but that it stands for right. If a political party can not get votes on the grounds of patriotism it has no right to ask for votes on the ground of partisanship. Under our form of government political parties are necessary, for it is through them they can come to agreements on public questions and announce their principles and intentions; but political parties should be the servants of the people, not their masters."

Property owners feel the oppression of high taxes in Paducah as nowhere else in the state. If a building in the city that cost $50,000, and was assessed at the proper value, yielded an income of $2,000 a year in rentals, about $1,200 or $1,400 of this would have to be paid in city, county and state taxes, leaving the owners only about $600 a year on the investment, out of which would have to be paid the cost of repairs, insurance and other necessary expenses. We can't expect to build up a city with handsome, substantial buildings, when such a state of affairs exists. It forces property owners to dodge taxes, grossly under-assess property and thus increase the burden on others, or lose money.

And why?
 Because thousands of dollars are ruthlessly and wantonly squandered
 every year by the city and county.
 There are scores of ways in which to reduce expenses without the people's being subjected to hardships, or deprived of any of the few benefits they now get for the money they are compelled to pay in taxes. The trouble is the city administration does not desire to stop the extravagance, because a few are getting the benefit of it, and they will continue to get the benefit of it as long as the clique remains in power.

The voters should think about these things, for they mean much to them and their families. The city is in the hands of a few selfish men, and the only way to extricate it is by voting these men out of office.

It will soon be time for the voters to decide.

It has been suggested, as the city does not desire to purchase the school building at Fifth and Kentucky avenue for a city hall, that the county sell the court house for a school and buy the school property for a court house. It will be but a few years until the county has to build a new court house, and already more schools are needed. The school site is ample for a court house, as it is larger than the government building property and no yard is needed for a court house, while one is for a school. The proposition has its advantages and disadvantages and there are doubtless many who will favor as well as oppose it. The county would be able to realize perhaps several thousand dollars on the deal, and bonds would have to be issued by the board of education to pay the difference in price and for the new school. The tendency of modern times is to build court houses without yards, and to build schools with as large yards as possible to get. It is at least a proposition to think about.

Mayor Dunne and his traction fallacies have received another jolt at Chicago. The United States court has set forward the ninety-nine year franchise cases to January 2, which is a set back for the mayor. A Chicago dispatch thus tells why: "The city legal department opposed the motion to advance the cases, because the city desired to have the state supreme court decide the quo warranto proceedings striking at the ninety-nine-year rights so as to have the decision as a precedent in the review of the Grosseau decree and hearing by the supreme court. In the ordinary course the appeal pending in the federal supreme court would not be reached for months, and it was regarded as unlikely that a final decision could be reached before the middle or latter part of next year. This would have given ample time to the city to have rushed the quo warranto through the Illinois supreme court before the hearing at Washington."

It might be a good thing if France or some other country were to give Venezuela a good spanking. It would teach the fussy little republic a lesson and possibly save Uncle Sam a lot of trouble.

Only about 600 difference in the registration now. If there are not over 600 disgusted, disgruntled, dissatisfied Democrats in Paducah, we have very much missed our guess.

THE STARS BY DAYLIGHT.

 Tradition That They May Be Seen
 From Bottom of Shaft.

Are the stars visible to ordinary sight in the daytime? There is a widespread tradition that they are; that if an observer places himself at the bottom of any deep shaft—as of a mine, a well or a factory chimney—which may shut off scattered light and reduce the area of sky illumination acting on the retina, he will be able to discern the brighter stars without difficulty. The tradition is one of a respectable antiquity, for Aristotle refers to persons seeing stars in daylight when looking out from caverns of subterranean reservoirs, and Pliny ascribes to deep wells a similar power of rendering visible the stars, the light of which would otherwise be lost in the overpowering splendor of the solar rays.

The tradition, well founded or not,
 has often been adopted for literary effect. It seems almost sacrilegious to hint that no star known to astronomers could have shone down unceasingly on poor Stephen Blackpool during his seven days and nights of agony at the bottom of the Old Hell shaft; that at the best he could only have caught a glimpse of it for a few minutes in each twenty-four hours as it passed across the zenith. Dickens, indeed, does not absolutely say that Stephen watched the star by daylight. It is only a natural inference from his description, but Kipling adopts the tradition in its extreme form when he writes of—
 The gorge that shows the stars at noonday clear.

But is the tradition true? Of course every one knows that Venus from time to time may be seen even at high noon, but then Venus at her brightest is many times over brighter than Sirius.
 Then, again, the assistance of a telescope enables the brighter stars to be discerned at midday, but the telescope not only directs the eye and greatly limits the area from which the skylight reaches the observer, but it enormously increases the brightness of the star relative to that sky illumination.
 The naked eye observation of true stars in full sunlight stands in quite a different category.

Humboldt, who was much interested in the question, repeatedly tried the experiment, both in Siberia and in America, and not only failed himself ever to detect a star, but never came across any one who had succeeded.
 Much more recently an American astronomer set up a tube for the express purpose of seeing the Pleiades by daylight, also with no effect. It has been supposed that Flamsteed, the first astronomer royal, sank a well at Greenwich observatory for the purpose of observing Gamma Draconis, the zenith star of Greenwich, in this manner.

The existence of the well is undoubted, though Sir George Airy, the late astronomer royal, was unable to find it, but Flamsteed marks it on more than one of his plans of the observatory, and there is a drawing extant of the well itself, showing the spiral staircase that ran down it. But its purpose seems to have been not to have furnished the means of observing the star with the naked eye, but to enable the observer to measure, as accurately as possible, the distance of the star from the true zenith at the moment of transit.

Sir John Herschel mentions a case,
 which he considers as satisfactory evidence, of an optician who stated that the earliest circumstance that drew his attention to astronomy "was the regular appearance at a certain hour for several successive days of a considerable star through the shaft of a chimney." This, it will be noticed, is second hand evidence. I have never been able to obtain evidence even so direct as this myself, though I have met several persons who felt quite confident that they had seen stars by daylight on looking up the shaft of a mine, or that "some one had told them
 he had done so."—Knowledge.

Washington Society Notes.
 Washington, Oct. 18.—Miss Amelia Yerkes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
 John W. Yerkes, will sail for Europe very shortly and spend the winter with the family of Minister to Switzerland J. Brutus Clay, who have a charming villa in Geneva, where there is a delightful permanent American colony of about 200.

Justice John M. Harlan and Mrs.

 Upper Fourteenth street after their prolonged absence. They went to Murray Bay, Canada, as usual, where Justice Harlan indulged in his fond-the splendid golf links there. Mr. and Mrs. James Harlan have been their

BOARD OF WORKS TO LET CONTRACT

 Caldwell Street Culvert Contract
 Will be Considered.

 Also the Contract for Pavement Improvement on West Jefferson Street.

OTHER MATTERS TO COME UP

The board of public works will meet this afternoon in regular session with a great deal of business to transact.

The contract for the concrete culvert on Caldwell street just this side of the I. C. depot, will probably be let and also two separate contracts for pavements, curbs and gutters on West Jefferson street.

City Engineer L. A. Washington
 this morning completed all figures necessary in the contract matters and there will be no hitch in the letting of the contracts unless it be in the figures presented to the board.
 It is the desire of the board to get to work on the culvert job at once as the site of the culvert is considered not safe for traffic.

Sewer Inspector Franke will come in with a report on his annual sewer inspection. At the last meeting of the board he was ordered to look into every sewer and see that all stoppages were remedied and the sewers placed in the best possible condition for the winter.

City Engineer Washington will report on matters in his department and the remainder of the work of the board will be purely routine.

City Engineer Washington and his assistants have begun preparing to make out the estimates for the third street work. The paving has now reached Broad street, and will from indications be finished by the last of the week.

FUNERAL FRIDAY.

 Remains of Sir Henry Irving Crematured With Great Secrecy.

London, Oct. 18.—At an early hour yesterday morning the body of Sir Henry Irving was removed in great secrecy to a crematorium, the name of which is not given, where it was cremated. The secrecy surrounding the event was due to the desire of the family to avoid publicity.

Tonight the ashes will be taken to Westminster Abbey, where in accordance with custom they will lie in St.
 Faith's chapel until the funeral ceremony Friday.

DEATH CLAIMS
A NOBLE WOMANMrs. Mary Leigh Died at Noon
From Pneumonia.

Was a Native of Tennessee, But Had Spent Most of Her Life in Paducah.

FUNERAL AT 2 P. M. TOMORROW.

Mrs. Mary Brooks Leigh died at 12:30 today at her home on Broadway, near Seventh, after a short illness from pleurisy that developed into pneumonia on Monday night. The end came peacefully and closed a very beautiful and useful life. She leaves six children, Messrs. Robert and Charles Q. C. Leigh, of Chicago, Mr. Edward O. Leigh, of Frankfort, Ky.; Mr. Clinton B. Leigh, of Salt Lake City, Utah; and Mr. O. P. Leigh and Miss Ora V. Leigh, of this city. All were with her at her death except Clint Leigh, who could not reach the city in time. She also leaves nine grandchildren and several sisters.

Mrs. Leigh was born in Weakley county, Tenn., July 18, 1833, and was married to the Rev. William H. Leigh, a Methodist minister, 53 years, coming to Paducah a bride, where her husband had charge of the old Broadway Methodist church. They subsequently removed to Dresden, Tenn., but returned to Paducah in 1879 and Mrs. Leigh made this her home after her husband's death, her sons being identified with much of the business and progress of Paducah.

Mrs. Leigh was a woman beloved by all who knew her. Gentle, quiet and refined, a gentlewoman of the old school, her whole life was a beautiful lesson in Christian faith and unselfishness. Her vivid interest in life and a strong sense of humor made her always a lovable and interesting companion. Especially was she in touch with young life, and was sought and loved by them. A devoted mother her children's interests and pleasures were hers, and she made their home a center of life. Abounding hospitality was one of her greatest characteristics. She left a large circle of friends throughout Kentucky and Tennessee to mourn her loss, for wherever she touched in her useful life she made strong friends.

The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Broadway Methodist church, burial at Oak Grove.

Taylor Fisher Estimates That Fully $300 Worth of Smokers Were Stolen From Him.

OTHER POLICE COURT NEWS

The star defendants in police court this morning were John, (Brownie) Hale and Bigger Hale, uncle and nephew respectively, charged with obtaining money by false pretenses, and from indications the prisoners are up against it pretty strong.

The case against the two was worked up by Officers Aaron Hurley and Henry Singery. Several days ago they learned that a negro had bought several boxes of cigars cheap, and began investigating with the result that several warrants will be issued against both defendants today.

Dennis Loving, Willis Martin, John Morton, Tom Emery, John Moore, colored, and F. M. Matlock, white, are all alleged to have bought cigars from both the boys from a little as 50 cents a box, to $2.50. Taylor Fisher, who runs a cigar store, has been missing cigars for some time and estimates his loss at $300. He suspected the two boys, who are employed in his store as bootblacks, but did nothing until apprised of their action in selling cigars.

The case this morning was continued until tomorrow in order that a more thorough investigation might be made. Since court adjourned this morning a majority of the above mentioned persons who say they bought cigars, appeared and made affidavit, and for each person a separate warrant for obtaining money by false pretenses is being issued.

Already there is one case against Bigger Hale and four against "Brownie" Hale. It is said that the latter would take the cigars, put them in a basket and send them out by the nephew to be sold.

The elder Hale has been before the court several times, but this is the first time he has been arraigned for a felony of this nature.

Other cases were:
Frank Potts, white, drunkenness, $1 and costs; John Mix, white, breach of the peace, $5 and costs; Ed Morgan, white, breach of the peace, dismissed; Beulah Johnson, colored, breach of the peace, continued.

DENTISTS are men that put you in a chair and make you squeel if you ain't pretty good. I am gamin bekaus I never squealed once when the dentist was poking a iron in my jaw but I wanted to squeel tho. when you go to a dentist he will say Well, what can I do for you and you say My tooth is aking and he will say That is too bad, git in this chair and we will see what we can do, then he takes a iron that is awful sharp and he puts it on the edge of the hole in yure tooth and it slips off sumtimes and goes away into yure jaw and he says Oh I beg yure pardon, my nerves are bad this morning, then he looks around in yure mouth & says Dear me, there is quite a lot of work needs to be done on yure teeth, see here is a cavity and here is another and here is five more, then he says I will go ahead & fix yure teeth up and make it reasonable, & he does it and then when he sends you the bill you faint neerly.

dentists make false teeth, too my Ma has false teeth & they are always nise and white, Pa says they ought to be when they cost him a month's salary neerly.

but I think dentists are much more on the square than doctors.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Why She Asked.

The woman with the thin lips, the keen eyes and the sharp nose approached the druggist confidentially and whispered:

"Do you sell hair dye, Mr. Doper?"

"Yes, ma'am," answered the druggist in a tone which was meant to assure the caller that wild horses would not tear the secret from his bosom if she wanted to invest in peroxide of hydrogen.

"Well, tell me," she said, her eyes snapping, "don't you sell it to that hateful frizzly haired young thing that has moved into the new house three doors above us and who makes eyes at my husband every evening when he comes home from the office? I told him last night he needn't take such an interest in her, because if she didn't dye her hair she was a wig."

But the diplomatic druggist excused himself to answer an imaginary telephone call.—Chicago Tribune.

He Escaped.

Wife (angrily)—I expected you two hours ago. Where have you been, pray? Husband—At the club. Somehow I got into a dispute with Jinks, and—

Wife (impatiently)—Well? Husband—Oh, I did him up, all right. He contended there wasn't a woman with a decent temper in all the world, and I said I knew one with the temper of an angel. Is it necessary to add, dear, I meant you?—Brooklyn Life.

That's Different.

"Hello, old chap! I hear you've lost your job."

"Well, I wouldn't put it like that exactly, but the firm has been foolish enough to sever its connection with me."

The Monkey's Side.

Greene—Do you believe in the theory that mankind came from the simian race?

Gray—Well, I don't know. There are men who look like monkeys and monkeys who look like men, but I never heard anything derogatory to the character of a monkey. To be sure, they are given to thievery, but, then, so are most animals.—Boston Transcript.

Strenuous.

"Yes, Gladys, he is rich, but the mere fact of his being rich does not mean anything. Why doesn't he do something? This is a world of endeavor."

"Why, papa, he is an artist."

"Hm! I've never seen anything of his work."

"You ought to see the meerschaum pipe he colored."—Houston Post.

Advice.

"You have made me so happy," said the young man when the girl's father had given his consent, "that I feel as if I could walk on air."

"That's good. But don't go and forget now that you'll not be able to live on that sort of thing."—Chicago Record-Herald.

BRIGHT CHANCES

For Tom Lynn's Acquittal—Coroner's Jury Exonerates.

A telegram received last evening by Mr. E. E. Lynn from Kansas City, announced that the coroner's jury that inquired into the death of young Amos, who was accidentally killed by his son, Tom Lynn, of Paducah, exonerated the boy. This does not mean acquittal, however, as the young man is being held for further investigation, but it is believed, and hoped by his many friends here, that he will soon be out of his trouble.

A letter received by the family yesterday from the young man confirms the report that the affair was an accident, and he expresses the greatest sorrow over it. He and Amos were room-mates and the best of friends and the fatal blow was dealt in a spirit of fun.

The question of bail will come up Saturday, and there are several who will promptly execute bond for him. Including his employer, Mr. Hume, of St. Louis.

LYDIA'S
QUORUM

By BELLE MANIATES

Copyright, 1905, by Belle Maniates

"Well, Lyddy, I'll get you the job if I can, but it's going to be a mighty hard thing to get a 'corum,' " Deacon Watrous was saying. "You see, that young Wight thinks we ought to have a man. Of course you'll have my vote, but Bill Stiles is always straddling a fence, and the last man he talks to gets him. This young feller's highfalutin talk kind of caught Bill's fancy, and he was tottering, but I took him in hand, and now he's leavin' our way again. I'll stick to him tighter than a brother and keep him away from Wight till the meetin' is over. It's tomorrow night."

"You are so good, Deacon Watrous," replied Lydia, raising grateful eyes. "and if I get the place I'll do my best to vindicate your choice."

"I'll do all I can, Lyddy," said the deacon.

Lydia Gardner had spent the past summer away from home, and when she returned to the farm she had found the family in a state of gloom. Crops had been poor, a number of cattle had died, and the inevitable mortgage had to be met. Lydia proposed to meet it by teaching in the district school. She had been reasonably certain of securing the position, counting on the deacon and Bill for a quorum, but now this young man, who had fallen heir to the farm of his uncle, John Wight, and had come to the Corners in his absence, might carry his point of hiring a man to teach.

She simply had to have the position, and she determined to help Deacon Watrous in his efforts to secure Bill's needed vote. It would be useless for her to appeal to Bill—Weathercock Bill, as he was called. She resolved the enemy whom she had never seen.

Hugh Wight was in the sitting room of the old homestead pondering over this same subject of a quorum. When he succeeded to his inheritance he had determined to become a practical farmer and win the esteemed position his uncle had ever maintained in the hearts of the simple country folk. They had laughed at the young man for thinking he could be a farmer, but he had shown them he could learn from them and improve on their methods. They were glad to have him succeed his uncle as a member of the school committee. That seemed to be more in his line.

He had as firm convictions on the educational question as he had on most subjects, and he thought a man more fitted to wrestle with the difficulties of a country school than a woman. He had not seen this applicant, but he did not approve of a young girl who had no preparation or experience in teaching.

In the midst of his cogitations there was a rap at the outer door. He opened it to admit a winsome, willowy girl with big, innocent eyes and an artless manner.

"Are you Mr. Wight? I am Lydia Gardner."

He acknowledged the introduction gravely and asked her to be seated. Hugh Wight was not a susceptible man, and Lydia's beauty only strengthened him in his belief that she was not competent for the position of school-teacher at the Corners.

"I am, as you know," she said, "a candidate for the position of teacher. I hear that you are in favor of hiring a man for the place, and I don't suppose anything that I could say would change your opinion. I came to ask you not to induce Bill Stiles to vote against me."

He was somewhat surprised at this frank appeal. He liked directness.

"It means a good deal to us," she continued earnestly, "and if I don't get the place it will go very hard with my father. My salary would help him more than you can know."

Hugh felt as if he had been stealing sheep. She did not want the money for frilleries, then, but to help her father. "What do you mean by my influencing Bill?" he asked.

"It's like this," she explained. "Deacon Watrous is of course for me, and Bill is, too, or would be, if you leave him alone and say nothing about the advantages of having a man, but the last person that approaches Bill has him, and they say you have a convincing tongue. The deacon is going to try and keep Bill away from you until the meeting is over, but I didn't care to trust to that, so I came to ask you. I wouldn't presume to ask you to vote for me, only to let Bill alone."

Up to this time the eyes, voice and manner of the young man had not been at all encouraging, but in the hearty peal of infectious laughter that followed her request Lydia caught a note of appreciation, and some way she derived hope from his amusement.

"Miss Gardner, it strikes me as rather odd that you should come and show me the way to gain my point and then ask me not to take it."

"Maybe it is," she said wistfully, "but I didn't know what else to do."

He remained in deep study for a moment. He did not like to be influenced by personalities.

"Well," he said abruptly, "I'll not speak to Bill or in his presence about this matter, and I'll waive my objections for this year and vote for you myself, though I still believe a man should have the place."

Two bright spots burned in Lydia's cheeks.

"Thank you. I will now have another incentive to do my best. I shall try to show you that I can fill the position as acceptably as a man. You look incredulous. They all said about here that you, a 'city chap,' could never make a farmer, but you showed them you could. I'll show you I can make a teacher."

Having made this telling point, Lydia took her departure. Immediately the housekeeper came in and expressed her approval of Wight's concession.

"Lyddy's a smart gal, and for all her purty looks and baby way she's got a heap of grit. Pity her pa didn't have it. He used to be a professor, and he's eddicated Lyddy to use good speech."

At the meeting the next night Lydia received a unanimous vote, and when school opened she was installed as teacher. She made companions of the big boys and girls and pets of the little ones. The country people were perfectly satisfied. In due course of time Deacon Watrous and Bill Stiles came to make the accustomed visit. Lydia was fully prepared for this occasion and invited them to question the class. They knew but a few questions to ask, and as they had paid many visits to the school the pupils knew the answers by heart. Then Lydia asked them to sing a stirring war song and a hymn. Bill's little girl spoke a piece, carefully rehearsed beforehand. The two members went away enthusiastic over the new teacher and told Wight he had better go and see for himself.

And he did, appearing suddenly and unexpectedly near the close of an Indian summer afternoon. Lydia's expression of dismay caused a titter of appreciation among the older boys. Instead of a reprimand she gave them an imploring look that could not be withstood, and order reigned at once. Lydia felt that the visitor had noted the look and interpreted it as a confession of inability to govern.

Just as she was about to call upon the school for a song little Bob Hanks let loose a mouse he had carefully confined in his book bag. Excitement prevailed among the girls and delight among the boys. Had Lydia known that she was to lose her position she would still have done as she did now, jumped up on her chair.

Hugh caught the mouse, threw it out of the window, ejected Bob and his book bag and in stentorian tone restored order. Lydia came down from her chair and in her confusion called upon the arithmetic class to come forward. She wished that Lige Jenkins had remained at home that day. Arithmetic was not his forte. She planned ardently to omit him, but the visitor instantly detected the omission and pounced upon the unfortunate lad.

"Lige," he asked, "how many times does 9 go in 27?"

To Lydia's dismay Lige promptly stepped to the blackboard and commenced a solution via long division, finally putting down 2 for an answer.

"Try again, Lige," urged Wight cheerfully.

Lige then substituted the figure 4 for 2.

"You've got another guess coming, Lige."

The boy looked bewildered, and Lydia desperately came to his rescue.

"Lige, won't it go three times?" she asked insinuatingly.

Lige looked at her anxiously.

"Why, yes," he replied slowly, "it will, but it's a dern'd tight squeeze!"

Then came that delightful unconstrained burst of laughter that Lydia had heard once before from Hugh Wight. The school joined with him. The teacher looked at the clock and thankfully observed it was time for dismissal. She stood at the door until the last scholar had vanished. Then she came back to the platform, where Wight still sat and Lige lingered.

"Say," observed the lad earnestly, "rain't her fault. I never did know nuthin' about 'rithmetic nohow. She's the best teacher we ever had."

This touch of sympathy from the little champion was too much for Lydia. Her self control slipped, and her head went down on the desk.

"Lige," said Wight gently, "are you lot better than I expected. There are lots of things in life more desirable than a knowledge of the science of numbers. Take this dime and go down to the Corners and see what it will buy."

The boy smiled happily away. Lydia raised her head. A little gleam of anger and defiance flashed through her tears.

"You can send and get a man teacher as soon as you want to. I am glad I am not a man."

"So am I, Lydia," he said heartily, with such earnestness of voice and eyes that the slender hand of the schoolteacher went up in a pathetic little way to her eyes.

"I am your 'quorum,' you know," he said wistfully, but with the new softness still in his voice, "and I didn't come to inspect the school nor the scholars, but to take the teacher driving. Will she go?"

Her hands came quickly down from her eyes, whose dimness was melting away in a glow of pleasure.

"Yes," she replied, "I will go."

The New England Kitchen.

There is a kind of sentiment about the kitchen in New England—a kind of sentiment not provoked by other rooms. Here the farmer drops in to spend a few minutes when he comes back from the barn or field on an errand. Here in the great, clean, sweet, comfortable place, the busy housewife lives, sometimes rocking the cradle, sometimes opening and shutting the oven door, sometimes stirring the pot, darning stockings, paring vegetables or mixing goodies in a yellow bowl. The children sit on the steps, stringing beans, shelling peas or hulling berries, the cat sleeps on the floor near the wood box and the visitor feels exiled if he stays in sitting room or parlor, for here, where the mother is always busy, is the heart of the farmhouse—Century.

"Mr. Slopay, did I understand you to say you believed my coffee to be half chicory?" "I believe," replied Mr. Slopay, peering into his cup, "I have grounds for such a belief."

A MOTHER'S REMORSE

A story of sacrifice, love and tragedy, written in a strong emotional strain which will appeal to every reader. Love, the most powerful of emotions, is the guiding star which supports Arline in her battles against evil and temptation. The awakening of a mother's love, the frantic search of a mother for her unfortunate child which was abandoned, and finally battered to the gypsies, is graphically described in our story.

IT'S A STAYER.

Comes Quickly But It Comes to Stay
—How a Paducah Citizen Got Rid of It.

Comes early, stays late.
No stranger can be more unwelcome.
Makes life a misery all day long.
Keeps you awake nights.
Irritates you; spoils your temper.
Do you know this unwelcome guest?
Ever have it come and stay with you?
Know what it is? Eczema.
If you ever had any itching of the skin.
You know how hard it is to shake it off.
You would like to know how to do it?

Let a Paducah woman tell you.
Read her statement that follows:
Mrs. Annie Richardson, living at 329 South Third St., says: "I have been troubled with eczema for a year or more. At times it was very sore and itched badly. I tried a great many ointments and salves of various kinds. I thought some of them were going to make a permanent cure, but in a short time it would break out as bad as ever. When I saw Doan's Ointment advertised I made up my mind to give it a trial. I obtained a box at DuBois, Kolb & Co's. drug store and began its use. It proved itself to do all that is claimed for it. It made a complete cure and up to the present time I have not noticed any signs of its return."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

HARRY OWENS RESIGNS.

Will Become a Flagman On the Illinois Central.

Mr. Harry Owen, formerly of the local I. C. master mechanic's office, has resigned his position and gone to St. Louis on a short visit.

On his return he will go to flagging on the road, leaving the clerical work in the freight and other departments in which he has been employed.

His position has been filled by Mr. Wallace Evans of the freight department.

The zeal of friendship does more real harm than the arrows of enmity.

BICYCLE THEFTS.

Two Wheels Stolen Last Night—One Recovered.

It seems that bicycle thieves are operating again in Paducah, as two wheels were stolen from in front of the Brunswick pool parlor last night. One belonged to Lon Davis and the other to Frank Iseman. The latter's wheel was found last night on Jones street in a hollow, where it had been left with a girl's wheel. Two boys found the wheels and took them to the house of Police Chief James Collins who brought them to the hall. The Iseman boy's wheel has not yet been recovered. The owner of the girl's wheel has not turned up and his machine is being held awaiting a claimant.

It is thought by the police that mischievous boys took the wheels to enjoy a ride and when through, left the machines where they would be found.

SMASHED WINDOW.

But the Thief Took Nothing Except a Cheap Gun.

The window of the Charles Michael clothing and notion store on the east side of Market street was demolished this morning about 3 o'clock and one cheap shotgun stolen.

Officers Cross and Terrell, of the Broadway beat, were patrolling the beat and noticed the glass broken. They reported the matter immediately and an investigation disclosed the fact that nothing was taken but the gun. Apparently no attempt was made to enter the store or to secure anything but the gun.

The detectives are working on the case.

The Pittsburg Post says: "On account of low water many of the river steamers are being put out of commission. The acid in the water is corroding the boilers, and in order to patch up the leaks the boats have to tie up for several days. Nearly all the poolboats have required repairs within the past two months."

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

Large Crowd Attended the Religious Revivals Here.

The protracted meeting at the Third street Methodist church is attended with much interest. A large congregation was out to hear Rev. P. H. Fields last evening, and his sermon was very impressive. Owing to the weather the services are being held at the church and not in the tent erected for the purpose. Rev. J. H. Roberts will preach tomorrow evening, and will hold the fourth quarterly conference of the church.

Rev. T. E. Richey had a large congregation last evening at the East Baptist church and much interest is being manifested in the revival. Services are held each afternoon at 2 o'clock, and at 7:15 at night.

"Preventive and Rescue Work" is the topic discussed at the prayer meeting this afternoon under the auspices of the Home Mission society at the Broadway Methodist church. These services are held each afternoon at 3 o'clock and are well attended.

CLOSE CALL

Miss Anna May Yeiser's Horse Shies and She Had to Jump.

Miss Anna May Yeiser, daughter of Mayor D. A. Yeiser, narrowly escaped being seriously injured while riding in to town from the park last evening.

She was riding a gentle horse which had heretofore become frightened at nothing, but when a long trolley car passed, the animal suddenly shied, plunged forward, reared up and came to the ground with a crash.

With great presence of mind Miss Yeiser jumped from her mount and escaped injury. She was pretty badly shaken up and the affair created a great deal of excitement in the vicinity of the railroad hospital, where the accident happened.

PATROL WAGON

Will Not Be Used at Present On Account of the Street.

The city patrol wagon has been completed and is ready for service again, but on account of the torn up condition of Kentucky avenue, will not be used until the street is ready for service.

Several weeks ago the legislative boards ordered the patrol wagon overhauled and repainted and it has been in the shop since. In its stead has been used a heavy spring wagon and as it would be damaging to the patrol wagon to be driven out into the torn-up street, it will not be placed in service again before the street is in good condition. Patrol Driver John Austin will continue to use his spring wagon.

CALLED MEETING

Of the Council to Pass Improvement Ordinances.

The council met in special session this morning and passed two ordinances for the improvement of Jefferson street from 18th to 25th street by gutters, curbs and paving. The board also gave final reading to an ordinance providing for grading and graveling Sowell street. This is all the board did.

The stage of the river this morning was 4.4 feet and stationary. South wind and rain. Precipitation, .20 of an inch up to 7 a. m.

The Warren left at 8 a. m. for Cairo with a good passenger trip. The Clyde will leave at 5 p. m. for Waterloo, Ala. She brought off 300 bales of cotton yesterday and unloaded them here on the bank. It is going to Liverpool, England, and was today delivered to the Illinois Central. This is one of the largest single shipments of cotton ever received here.

The City of Salt Lake leaves St. Louis next Friday evening for the Tennessee river and is due here Sunday.

The Harth left this morning for Caseyville after a barge of corn.

The Royal arrived this morning from Golconda and left again this afternoon.

If the present rain is general throughout the Ohio Valley, and from reports it is, it will be a great benefit to the rivers as it will raise them to a better boating stage. Capt. S. A. Fowler stated this morning that he was glad to see the rain for this reason.

Capt. Mark Cole, the well known steamboat man who has been ill and until yesterday unable to be on the streets, is better. He is suffering from malaria.

The Inland Navigator says: "More people than ever before in modern times traveled on the rivers of America during the present season, and there has not been a single instance of death or injury during the entire season that could be traced to any neglect or lack of efficiency of a river man, or to any defect in a river steamer. This is a record to be proud of and it is worth a great many thousand dollars for future passenger patronage. Sometimes steamboat owners are inclined to think that the government regulations are a little severe or that they are enforced a little more rigidly than they might like in their own cases, but if the splendid record of safety made during the busy season of 1905 was the fruit of these same thoroughness and care on the part of the government officials, it was worth all the bother and money it cost and the river interests will profit from it in the long run."

GOING TO BED HUNGRY

IT IS ALL WRONG AND MAN IS THE ONLY CREATURE THAT DOES IT.

The complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness and general weakness so often met with. There is a perpetual change of tissues in the body, sleeping or waking, and the supply of nourishment ought to be somewhat continuous and food taken just before retiring, adds more tissues than is destroyed, and increased weight and vigor is the result. Dr. W. T. Catbell says: "All animals except men eat before sleep and there is no reason in Nature why man should form the exception to the rule."

If people who are thin, nervous and sleepless would take a light lunch of bread and milk or oatmeal and cream and at the same time take a safe, harmless stomach remedy like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in order to aid the stomach in digesting it, the result will be a surprising increase in weight, strength and general vigor. The only drawback has been that thin, nervous, dyspeptic people cannot digest and assimilate wholesome food at night or any other time. For such it is absolutely necessary to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they will digest the food, no matter how weak the stomach may be, nourishing the body and resting the stomach at the same time.

Dr. Stevenson says: "I depend almost entirely upon Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in treating indigestion, because it is not a quack nostrum, and I know just what they contain, a combination of vegetable essences, pure pepsin. They cure Dyspepsia and stomach troubles, because they can't help but cure." Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. They are in lozenge form, pleasant to take, and contain nothing but pure pepsin, vegetable essences and bismuth, scientifically compounded. Your druggist will tell you they give universal satisfaction.

of 1905 was the fruit of these same thoroughness and care on the part of the government officials, it was worth all the bother and money it cost and the river interests will profit from it in the long run."

A new steel-hulled excursion boat will be built by Capt. Harry Brodsky to take the place of the Corwin H. Spencer recently burned at Jefferson Barracks, near St. Louis. She will be 285 feet long and 42 feet beam.

A number of towboats have reached Pittsburg with empties within the past few days.

Prospects are good for an early rise in the upper Ohio.

Several conventions of importance to river men are near at hand. The National Board of Steam Navigation, of which Capt. James A. Henderson, of Pittsburg, is president, convenes October 30 and 31, St. Louis. The Ohio Valley Improvement Association meets November 15, 16 and 17 at Cairo. The convention was to have been held in October, but it was postponed one month. The Cairo convention should be the greatest river improvement gathering ever held.

Inspectors Veatch and Moore, of Evansville, will reinspect boats at Cairo in a few days.

An electrician is always posted on current topics.—Baltimore American.
